

Co-Design Workshop: International collaborations

CO-DESIGN TEAM

The COVISION Co-Design team has completed phase 2 of its workplan with its third on-line workshop on 16 October. A highlight of the Co-Design process was the exchange of ideas and feedback with Co-Design teams in Mexico and Taiwan. All were impressed by the work of their sister teams, and sent plenty of positive feedback. They also noticed differences between countries; for example, in Mexico many children do not have adequate homes, which worsens all the other problems during a pandemic. Children in Taiwan studied on-screen for long hours, and are concerned about how this affects their eyesight. All the teams have used the feedback to strengthen their own presentations for their respective Pitch Days. Co-Design teams in Australia and the USA have launched a similar process. More at <https://www.covision.ie/co-design-workshop>

COVISION CRAG 11th meeting, 23 Oct.

CRAG

The COVISION Ireland CRAG (Children's Research Advisory Group) will hold its 11th meeting on Sunday 23 October, online via Zoom at the usual time of 4.00 pm. In a busy agenda, the CRAG will look at the final plans for Pitch Day, the CRAG's key role in the COVISION Showcase, the analysis of children's COVID-related artwork, and future directions for the CRAG. More about the COVISION CRAG at: <https://www.covision.ie/ireland-crag-news>

COVISION Co-Design Team: Ready for Pitch Day

CO-DESIGN TEAM

On Pitch Day (Tuesday 01 November) the Ireland Co-Design team will present its proposals for change to a panel of invited policy experts from the Department for Children and Youth (DCEDIY), Department of Education, Department of Health, Health Research Board (HRB), TUSLA (Government Children's Agency), and the Children's Ombudsman. At its online workshop on 16 October, the team members (ages 10-17) finalised their proposals and presentation, ready for pitch Day.

More at: <https://www.covision.ie/co-design-workshop-ireland>

COVISION CRAG at November showcase

CRAG

The COVISION Showcase will take place at UCD's Belfield campus in Dublin on Saturday 26 November 2022, from 10.00 - 13:00. Everyone involved, including CRAG members, Co-Design Team members, and their families, is warmly invited. There will be a presentation of the work of all our international Co-Design teams, and keynotes from the Minister for Children and the Children's Ombudsman. A highlight of the event will be a conversation with the COVISION CRAG.

See the full programme and book a free ticket on-line at:

<https://www.covision.ie/events>

